to Which the Inspector Has No Power Ender the Law to Abate The Shops a Measer it. Health - Reforms Made in the Condition of Bakerles and Mines.

Atmany, Jan. 17. State Factory Inspector O'Leary has completed his report for the year 1898. It shows that a total of 27,425 inspecions were made during the year, an increase of 6.240 over the previous year, and includes manafactories, bakeshops, mines, and mining plants. In the establishments visited there are emlored 537,702 people, 139,226 of whom were romen, of which number 53,997 were under 21 ears of age. There were 12,100 children over 14 and under 16 years of age. There were 84 ompared with 211 for 1895, and only 185 illite children, as compared with 310 for 1895. says that the amendments to secn 2 of the law relating to child labor, which vere recommended by the Reinhard Investi-Committee, are working beneficially for had a most salutary effect in checking ing the promiscuous employment of those chilen who are neither mentally nor physically fitted to be forced into the shop or factory. The inspector recommends a further reduction of the hours of labor for women under 21 and youths under 18 from 60 to 58 hours per length in the report, which says in part: It should be borne in mind that the power of he officers of the Inspection Bureau is limited ent can abate the evil of overcrowding factory wding of rooms in tenements which are used cers of the department can force the child workshop or factory, but are powers to molest them when they are found emis their own home circle. In New York city alone we have about four hundred wholesale clothing hapufacturers or jobbers, and nearly all of have about four hundred wholesale clothing handfacturers or jobbers, and nearly all of these utilize this kind of labor. There are sariy one hundred and fifty wholesale cloak bouses in the same city, and only a few of them have suitable shops and work rooms of their ewn in which to do the work. "The Bakeshop law of 1885," the report says.

"considered from any stantipoint, was the most beneficent in the line of labor legislation of any sver secured for the people of this State. For the first time since the passage of the act all bakeries in the State have had one thorough and complete laspection this year. To attempt to describe the condition of many of the places where breadstaffs are produced for public conconsumption would be impossible. The reports of the inspectors in many instances show that the fifthy and unclean conditions prevailing in the 'sweating' districts do not begin to compare with the unsanitary and foul conditions existing in many of the bakeries visited. But the conditions of the bakeries visited. But the conditions of the bakeshops to day as compared with their reported condition when first visited will show the aplendid results accomplished by the inspectors and the vastly improved condition of the bakeshops in this State generally."

"The first inspection of the mines," the report says, "showed many of them to be in a very bad and dangerous condition, and the manner of handling and treating high explosives in some instances was simply frightful. TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 17.-To-morrow evening Speaker Macpherson will announce the committees in the House. It is believed that Assem-blyman Gledhill of Passale will get the Chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee, the most important of the thirty-nine. The place usually goes to the leader of the majority, but Assemblyman Derousse of Camden is not a lawyer and it is expected he will get the first place on the Railroads and Canals or Corporations Com-

A joint Republican caucus will be held on Tuesday morning to choose candidates for State Treasurer and State Comptroller, and a joint meeting may be held at noon to elect them, There is no opposition to the re-election of George B. Swain of Newark as Treasurer and William S. Hancock of Trenton as Comptroller.

Senator Ketcham will try to get through both ouses this week his bill permitting Justices of the Supreme Court to sit alone at the trial of murder cases in first class countles, as there is murder cases in first class counties, as there is such a trial set down in Essex county for next week. Under the old law, the law judge and one of the lay judges of the county sat in such cases, and since the abolition of the lay judges the presence of the law judge is required. This interferes with other business of the court, and Senator Ketcham's bill is intended to per-mit the law judges to proceed with the minor cases.

mit the law judges to proceed with the minor cases.

Gen, Sewall's advice to the Republican State Committee last week to aid in securing the adoution of the biennial session's amendment to the Constitution has aroused new interest over the series of amendments adopted by the last Legislature. They are to be disposed of early in the present session, according to Senator Voornees, who has them in charge. J. P. McDonneil of Paterson, the Chairman of the Legislative Hoard of the Federation of Trades and Labor Unions, has sent a circular letter to all the Senator's and members requesting them in the name of over 50,000 organized wageworkers to defeat the proposed blennial session's amendment. The anti-gambling amendment is the only one that is certain to be adopted. On the one reorganizing the higher courts there still remains great difference of opinion among the lawyers.

Gov. Griggs, it is expected, will to-morrow night send in some of his appointments. The first place to be filled is the vacancy on the State Board of Assessors created by the election of David Hairi as Sheriff of Camden county. There are a dozen applicants for the place, which is conceded to South Jersey and will go to Amos Gibbs of Burlington or A. S. Barber of Woodbury. Senator Stokes of Cumberland, who has been regarded as the probable successor of Secretary of State Keiser, says he has received word that he will not get the place. A current rumor says that the Governor may promote tieorge Wurts, editor of the Paterson Press, to be Secretary of State, and give to William Bettle of Camden the Commissionership of Banking and Insurance, to which Mr. Wurts was appointed two months ago.

A PULLER-IN ARRESTED.

A Policeman Interferes with His Profes-sional Practice, and He Is Fined.

While Policeman Higgins of the Elizabeth street station was walking through Baster street at about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, he saw a puller-in engaged in a struggle with a well-dressed man. The puller-in was Abe Swiss, who is known as "the bad man of the lane," and is at present acting as outside agent for a clothing store at 94 Baxter street. Know for a clothing store at 94 Haxter street. Anow-ing Swiss's reputation pretty well, Higgins con-cluded to go to the rescue, although he was well aware of the fact that Swiss had declared his intention of doing up the next policeman who interfered with him in his vocation. Smith had his customer by the throat and was just getting him in the store when Higgins ran un and shouted:

up and shouted:
"Hey, there! leave that man alone."
"Keep away, or I'll do you, too!" shoute "Reep away, or Fil do you, too:" shouted Swiss.

Higgins didn't say any more. He just hauled out his citip and cracked the puller-in over the back of the bead. Swiss instantly let go his prey and made for Higgins. The two rolled all over the street, but the policeman finally got in a decisive blow, and Swiss succumbed. The man he had rescued disappeared during the fight.

Higgins took Swiss to the station house and arraigned him yesterday before Magistrate Simms in the Centre Street Police Court. The puller-in was fined $5. His employer paid the fine and Swiss was released.

MARRIED DAUGHTER SPANKED.

Then There Was Trouble Between the Mooneys and the Peterses.

Too much mother-in-law is the trouble which brought the Mooney and Peters families to the arbitrament of the law. Mrs. Peters's eighteenyear-old daughter Jennie married Thomas Mooney five months ago, and the mother furnished a flat for them at 501 West Thirty-first street. This flat she visited frequently, and one day, not finding it as neat as she thought it should be, she spanked Mrs. Mooney. Mrs. Mooney took this to heart and told her nushand. He spoke to Mrs. Peters. Mrs. Peters said that if she couldn't do as she pleased with her own daughter she would take the furniture away. A week later she spanked Jenule again. This sort of thing went on until about a week ago Mooney told his mother-in-law to take her furniture away and never to come again. She told her son Charles that Mooney had insulted her. Charles went to the house to look for Mooney, and, not finding him, beat Mrs. Mooney. On Saturday he went there again, found Mooney, and pointed an unloaded revolver at him. Mrs. Mooney called in the police, and her brother was arrested. There was a great airing of family difficulties in Jefferson Market Court yesterday, in which Mrs. Mooney took no part hut preserved a careful silence. Peters was put under bonds for his good behavior for three months. day, not finding it as neat as she thought it

RECTOR THROOP WILL SUE.

HE CENSURES BISHOP STARKEY

FOR UNFAIR TREATMENT, Throop's Troublous Relations with St. Matthew's Episcopal Church is Jer-sey City-The Deposed Bretor Will Seek in Court to Obtain a Reinstatement.

The Rev. Montgomery Hunt Throop, whose pastoral relations with St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Jersey City were recently dissolved by Bishop Starkey, proposes to appeal to the courts for redress. The reasons given by the Bishon for his action were the inability of the church to pay the rector's salary, the inability of the rector to accommodate himself and his conduct to the emergencies, and the fact that the relations of the rector and his parish are not likely to improve.

Mr. Throop claims that the Bishop's action is despotic, and in defiance of all law, civil, ecclesiastical, and divine. "I am deprived of what is mine," said Mr. Throop, "for no reason except the will of the Bishop. The Bishop says in his decision in effect: 'I find no fault with this man,' yet he condemns him. What does he mean by saying that I am unable to adapt myself to the peculiar situation of things in St. Matthew's? Does he mean that I am unable to sleep in the vestry room and live on $200 a year, as the vestrymen say be said the mean that I should not have combated those tendencies in St. Matthew's which have made the parish for years a source of evil and not of good to the community?

"Does he mean that I should have favored the election of a man notoriously dishonest as a vestryman, or that I should have permitted all the rowdyism and insubordination which I found in the parish when I came there?

the location of St. Matthew's, and that the majority of the congregation is with me, and that if I had remained until after the next Easter election a vestry would have been returned in favor of consolidation. In August, 1896, the backbone of the congregation signed a paper declaring they were willing to move with me to any point in Jersey City.

The Bishop has for nearly two years been trying to get me to do something toward turning over this property to the trustees of the Episcopal fund from which his own salary is paid. I have said all along that I would be glad to do this, provided it was done in trust for St. Matthew's parish, that is, if the trustees of the fund were to hold the church property in trust for St. Matthew's parish. Up to the time that the Bishop entered my parish as mischief maker last May the vestry was perectly willing that I should remain as rector If I would consent to a reduction of salary, from $1,000 to $600 or $500. I have al ways refused to consent to the reduction on the ground that I had the right to my salary." Mr. Throop says the Bishop told him three years ago that the parish was very much run gears ago that the parish was very much run down, and he told the Bishop that he would build it up again. When the "serry pleiged liself to elect him rector Mr. Throon notified the Bishop. The Bishop replied, telling him that his duty at St. Matthew's would be to build up a mission for the boor.

"I wrote at once," continued Mr. Throop, "that this was not my understanding or intention, nor did I wish to be restor of a church intended exclusively for either class, the rich or the poor, but of one in which all classes would meet and worship together; the would decline the call if he wanted me to mase it a mission chuch for the poor. The Bishop never answered that letter, I centered on my work, and I hink I did more than any two priests in the diocese combined in trying to save my parish, spending my own money freely with that object and intention. On Sov. I, 1894, I petitioned the Bishop for permission to open work on the Heights. After Easter the Bishop teld me that he would not offend the rectors on the Heights by allowing the introduction of another church, but that he would gially co-operate with me in any plan of consolidation with an existing church. It is on

"We effected a compromise to take all the matters in dispute, the salary of the rector, the selling and mortraging of the property, and my own resignation, before the Standing Committee of the diocese, to let that committee arbitrate and to abide by its decision. The committee refused to arbitrate. We went there to settle matters peacefully, and they told us to go to war. This matter has been wearing out my heart and ruining the parish ever since. I am the seventh successive rector of St. Matthews who has been asked to resign."
